

Tasos Tsolakis

Chief Information Officer

Tasos Tsolakis is ACS Chief Information Officer, coordinating technology decisions across the company. He is responsible for implementing solutions throughout multiple lines of business.

Previously, he served as ACS Senior Vice President in charge of our Centers for Solution Excellence.

Prior to joining ACS, Tsolakis was vice president of Direct-to-Consumer Solutions for Home Depot in Atlanta. He created the company's first Web-enabled end-to-end provisioning system.

Previously, he was Senior Vice President, Global Professional Services and Product Development, at General Electric's Information Services business in Gaithersburg, Maryland. He was responsible for delivering 90 percent of the global transaction processing market.

Tsolakis holds an MBA in Finance and Entrepreneurship from the University of Pennsylvania, Wharton Business School, and a Ph.D. and MS in Electrical Engineering from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in Blacksburg, Virginia.

Innovation and Technology in the Chief Information Office

Tsolakis has served on numerous IT boards and development committees, and is a recognized speaker in the industry. Named to the Top 100 ComputerWorld IT Leaders list in 2003, he is Six Sigma Certified. Industry issues that he can discuss include:

- Using strategic investment in IT to create a competitive advantage
- Delivering value internally by using technology as a cost saver across the value chain
- Deploying smart technology
- Investing in human capital to drive technology development
- Employing smart globalization for 24/7 development and delivery of customized solutions and services for clients.

For more information or to arrange an interview, please contact:

Kevin Lightfoot
Vice President,
Corporate Communications
214.841.8191
kevin.lightfoot@acs-inc.com

www.acs-inc.com